PREFACE

The study, National Youth Victimization Prevention Survey, 1992-1994, has been given to the National Data Archive on Child Abuse and Neglect for public distribution by David Finkelhor, Family Research Laboratory, University of New Hampshire. Funding for the project was provided by The Boy Scouts of America.

ABSTRACT

There were two primary goals of the National Youth Victimization Prevention Survey. The first was to derive estimates of various forms of victimization among youths. The second was to obtain children's assessments of the victimization prevention programs which many schools have begun offering over the past decade.

Data were collected by telephone survey from 2000 randomly sampled children between the ages of 10 and 16 and their caretakers. Children were interviewed at two time points, the initial survey time and a 15 month follow-up. In addition to collecting basic demographic information, the survey asked children to recall details of victimizations personally experienced, respond to a test of knowledge about sexual victimization, recall the content of prevention programs to which they were exposed, render judgments regarding the usefulness of these programs, report on behavioral, social and psychological troubles (including offense behavior and substance abuse), and express opinions on a range of topics including the level of crime in their schools and in their neighborhoods, and the survey itself.

The data consists of two files, one for each wave of data collection. The wave one file includes 2000 observations and 727 variables. The file contains all of the information obtained from the parent and child interviews administered in wave one as well as the case weights, derived variables and constructed variables. The wave two file includes 1457 observations and 897 variables. The file contains all of the information obtained from the parent and child interviews administered in wave two as well as the case weights, estimate weights, and derived and constructed variables.

I. STUDY OVERVIEW

Purpose of Study

There were two primary goals of the National Youth Victimization Prevention Study (NYVPS). The first was to derive estimates of various forms of victimization among youths. The second was to obtain children's assessments of the victimization prevention programs which many schools have begun offering over the past decade.

Sampling Information

A nationally representative sample of young people and their caretakers were interviewed by telephone in two waves. In the first wave, 2000 persons between the ages of 10 and 16 were contacted and interviewed through random-digit dialing using an area probability sample of all households with telephones in the United States (about 95% of the non-institutionalized population).

Data Collection

Wave 1 interviews took place between June, 1992 and January, 1993. The participation rates for the original survey were 88% of the adults approached and 82% of the children in the households where an interview with an adult was completed. Non-participation was slightly greater among households with younger children (aged 10 and 11) and with parents who believed violence was not a problem in their community. For a detailed description of the first wave of the survey, see Finkelhor D., Asdigian N., Dziuba-Leatherman, J. (1995).

Respondents were re-contacted by telephone for a follow-up (wave 2) interview between 8 and 24 months after the initial (wave 1) interview, with the average interim time being 15 months. This delay was long enough to allow a substantial number of children to suffer a victimization attempt, but short enough so that the effects of an exposure to training prior to wave 1 might still be observable. wave 2 interviews were conducted from September, 1993 to May, 1994, with 78% obtained in the first four months. Five hundred twenty (26%) of the original children were unavailable for reinterview; this included 360 who could not be located and 160 who refused to be reinterviewed (115 parents denied permission and 45 children declined to participate). Sample attrition was more likely to come from lower-educated and minority (African-American and Hispanic) households, from families that had experienced a move in the year prior to wave 1, from households in which children were not living with both natural parents, and from children who had experienced a previous completed sexual victimization.

Twenty-three cases had to be dropped from the wave 2 data file because of incomplete data. The demographic information on the remaining 772 boys and 685 girls who participated in wave 2 indicates an underrepresentation of minority and low income children.

Victimization Information

In both waves of the NYVPS, participants were asked a series of twelve screener questions (questions K29a - K33a, and K41a - K47a in the Adolescent Interview for wave 1). The screener questions were designed to determine whether the participants had experienced particular types of victimizations. When children reported a victimization incident, these screener questions were followed with more extensive questions, concerning details of the incidents. The incidents were then classified into one of several categories and also categorized as attempted or completed.

Long-form incidents are those for which a detailed series of follow-up questions (the "incident form") were asked. Each child could have a maximum of two "long-form" incidents. Typically, only the long-form incidents (i.e. not the screeners) are used for victimization estimates and analyses.

Screeners were chosen for the long-form based on the following algorithm:

        -If a child says "yes" to only 1 or 2 screeners, that/those are selected for the long-form.

        -If there are more than 2 "yes" screeners, long-form incidents are selected as follows:

                1st choice: most bothersome sexual victimization

                2nd choice: sexual victimization in the last year

                3rd choice: nonsexual victimization in the last year

                4th choice: sexual victimization, random choice

                5th choice: nonsexual victimization, most bothersome

                6th choice: nonsexual victimization in the last year

Thus, the algorithm gives priority to incidents which are sexual, more recent, and/or more severe.

In wave 1, Incident 1 questions are named A1-E9, and Incident 2 questions are identical but named RA1-RE9. The victimization screener questions which are eligible for selection to the long-form in wave 1 are: K29A, K30A, K31A, K32A, K33A, K41A, K42A, K43A, K44A, K45A, K46A, and K47A. In wave 2, Incident 1 questions are named NA1-NE9, and Incident 2 questions are identical but named NRA1-NRE9. The victimization screener questions which are eligible for selection to the long-form in wave 2 are: NK29A, NK30A, NK31A, NK32A, NK33A1A, NK33A1C, NK41A, NK42A, NK43A, NK44A, NK45A, NK46A, and NK47A.

Changes from Wave 1 to Wave 2

The interview schedule used in wave 2 is very similar to that used in wave 1. However, there are several major changes, which are listed below in the order that they appear in the interview.

    1. Three age variables are included in wave 2: parent report at first interview, child report at second interview and date-of-birth (DOB) reported by child at second interview. Because there are discrepancies among these variables, a policy for their use has been created. For analyses using wave 1 data only, use the parent report at the first interview (NEWAGE). For analyses using any wave 2 data, use the DOB reported by child at the second interview (NEWAGE2), substituting that for NEWAGE even in estimates of age at wave 1. The reasons for this policy: The study investigators believe that DOB at wave 2 is more accurate, and it allows for more sensitive comparisons because it can be converted to months. However, there is not DOB data for those who dropped out between wave 1 and wave 2. NEWAGE is the age information which would have used in analyzing wave 1 if wave 2 had not been analyzed. (Also, the DOB data results in some kids appearing to be out of the 10-16 age range at wave 1.)

2. The series of questions regarding perceived likelihood for various life events (items K23a-K23m in wave 1) was omitted from wave 2.

3. Victimization screener questions (e.g., K29A, K30A, K31A...) now refer to the time period "since last interview" instead of "ever" as they did in wave 1. (NOTE: In wave 2, children who indicate that they did not experience the victimization since Interview 1 ARE asked if it ever happened; however, these "ever" reports were not included in the algorithm for selection to the "long form".)

4. The single kidnapping screener question from wave 1 has been replaced by two kidnapping screeners in wave 2 (NK33A1A & NK33A1C). The wording of the screeners is different from that in wave 1, and additional information about the episode is also collected. For example, it is now possible to classify such episodes as either detention or abduction episodes.

5. Changes to the incident form ("long-form") include:
A. Questions about time and location of assault have been added in section A.
B. Specific dynamics questions regarding violence to genitals episodes have been added (section B, questions 15-18).
C. The structure of the dynamics questions has been modified so that children in the non-family and family assault victimization categories who answered a question about violence to genitals (NB6/NRB6 for non-family assaults, NB14/NRB14 for family assaults) would get asked the violence to genitals dynamics and the incidents would be classified as genital violence episodes.
D. More questions about the impact of the victimization were added in section D.
E. More questions about disclosure were added in section E.

6. Scales measuring self-esteem, post-traumatic stress disorder and depression were changed.

7. Questions about offense behavior have been added into the "Outcomes" section of the interview.

8. More detailed questions about family structure/custody issues/family abduction have been added.

9. A section on sibling assaults was added into the corporal punishment series.

10. A section on corporal punishment and abuse by teachers was added into the corporal punishment series.

Statistical Weighting Variables and Guidelines

Three weight variables were created for obtaining national victimization estimates with these data. The appropriate use of weight variables is described below and depends on the following factors: (1) the wave of the data which is analyzed; (2) whether or not victimization estimates are calculated; and (3) which variables are included in the analyses.

The wave 1 data file includes one weight variable, FINALWT. The use of FINALWT is described in detail below.

The wave 2 data file includes three weight variables: FINALWT, MONTHWT and UNDERWT. Their use is described in detail below.

FINALWT: This variable is used to standardize national victimization estimates derived from both the wave 1 and wave 2 data. All analyses aimed at obtaining victimization estimates from the wave 1 and wave 2 data files should be calculated by applying this weight. FINALWT takes into account sex, race and age. Its derivation was based on comparisons to U.S. Census projections.

MONTHWT: This variable is used to standardize national victimization estimates and must be applied to all of the _I (interim) variables in wave 2. It is designed to weight the time interval between the wave 1 and wave 2 interviews for all children to one year. That is, it weights victimizations per child according to the actual time at risk. For example, if one child was reinterviewed 17 months after the first interview and experienced two family assaults, and another child was reinterviewed 11 months after the first interview and experienced no family assaults, we do not know whether the difference is "real" or simply due to the fact that the first child had a longer interval during which s/he might have been victimized. MONTHWT attempts to control for this phenomenon.

UNDERWT: This variable is used to standardize national victimization estimates and must be applied to all of the _LY (last year) variables in wave 2. It is designed to weight those children reinterviewed LESS THAN one year after the first interview to a time period of one year. Like MONTHWT, it accounts for differences in time at risk, but in this case, because it is applied to the _LY variables. It weights only those children reinterviewed after a period of less than one year.

Instruments and Measures

The study employed a total of four instruments to collect information from both parents and children. The instruments are substantially original. A brief description of each instrument is provided below with references where applicable. The complete instruments are included in Appendices A and B of this document.

Wave 1 Youth Screener

This instrument was developed by the study's researchers to determine if children resided in the home, to obtain parental information about childrens' exposure to crime and violence in their community, to obtain information about victimization prevention programs that children were involved in, and to obtain permission to interview a child.

Wave 1 Adolescent Interview[1]

This instrument was developed by the study's researchers to obtain information from children about their victimization experiences and to assess their opinions about crime and violence in their communities. Information was also obtained regarding the victimization prevention programs that the children were involved in.

Wave 2 Adult Screener

This instrument was developed by study researchers to obtain parental information and opinions about their childrens' exposure to crime, violence, and victimization prevention programs which took place since the wave 1 interview.

Wave 2 Adolescent Interview[1]

This instrument was developed by study researchers to obtain information from children about victimization experiences which took place following the wave 1 interview. The instrument elicited perceptions about community crime and violence as well as information about victimization prevention programs that the children were involved in since the wave 1 interview.

[1] The sections of the adolescent interviews which concern PTSD symptoms were taken from a modified version of the Symptom Checklist-90-R(SCL-90-R); Derogatis, 1977; modified by Saunders, Arata, & Kilpatrick, 1990. The sections of the wave 1 and wave 2 adolescent interviews which concern depression were taken from a modified version of the Diagnostic Interview Schedule (DIS; see Robins, Helzer, Crougham, Williams, & Spitzer, 1981).

II. DESCRIPTION OF MACHINE-READABLE FILES

The Archive distributes these data as SAS transport or SPSS portable files. Other file formats and/or data file subsets can be prepared by special request. Please refer to the NDACAN order form or call us for more information.

File Characteristics

There are two files that are distributed for the NYVPS study: W1EVERLY and W2EVERLY. These files include information collected in each of the two waves of the study and contain all of the information obtained from the parent and adolescent interviews as well as the case weights, basic constructed variables, and derived variables which are used for obtaining victimization estimates.

A brief description of the two 'EVERLY' files is provided below. For information regarding variables, please see Appendices C through H. Frequencies and summary statistics are available from the NDACAN web server.

W1EVERLY
This data file contains 2000 observations and 727 variables. The file contains all of the information obtained from the parent and child interviews administered in wave 1 as well as the case weights, derived variables, and constructed variables. The constructed variables may be used to obtain victimization estimates.

W2EVERLY
This data file contains 1457 observations and 897 variables. The file contains all of the information obtained from the parent and child interviews administered in wave 2 as well as the case weights, estimate weights, derived variables, and constructed variables. The constructed variables may be used to obtain victimization estimates.

Linking the 'EVERLY' data files

There are two identification variables that are included in this study: w1id and w2id. Both of these identification variables are included in each of the wave 1 and wave 2 data files. Subjects that were included in only the first wave of the study do not have values for either of these identification variables. All of the subjects that were interviewed in the first and second wave of the study have values for the two identification variables.

The wave 1 and wave 2 'EVERLY' files may be linked together using the identification variables w1id and w2id. Cases that were not included in the wave 2 follow-up interview do not have a value for either w1id or w2id. This will not create a problem during the merging process since there is no wave 2 data which needs to be merged.

There are 727 variables in the wave 1 data file and 897 variables in the wave 2 data file. Since there are 15 variable names which are shared between the two data files, the merged file will have a total of 1609 (not 1624) variables.
Instructions for merging the data files are provided below for both SAS and SPSS users.

Merging the SAS Data Files

The following SAS program may be used to link the wave 1 and wave 2 'EVERLY' data files.

libname here 'c:\MYDIR ';
data temp;
set here.w1everly;
proc sort data=temp;
by w1id w2id;
data temp2;
set here.w2everly;
proc sort data=temp2;
by w1id w2id;
data temp3;
merge temp temp2;
by w1id w2id;
proc contents data = temp3;  run;

Merging the SPSS Data Files

The following instructions demonstrate how to link the wave 1 and wave 2 'EVERLY' data files using SPSS menus.

Sort the cases by w1id and w2id.
Order the variables so that w1id appears first and w2id appears second in both data        files.
From menus, choose:
Data
   Merge Files
      Add Variables
Select the data file to merge.
Save the resulting data file under a new name.

The following instructions demonstrate how to link the wave 1 and wave 2 'EVERLY' data files using SPSS code.

SORT CASES BY
 W1id (A) w2id (A) .
SAVE OUTFILE='D:\w1everly.sav' /COMPRESSED.
GET FILE='D:\w2everly.sav'.
EXECUTE .
SORT CASES BY
 W1id (A)w2id(A) .
SAVE OUTFILE='D:\w1everly.sav' /COMPRESSED.
MATCH FILES /FILE=*
 /FILE='D:\w2everly.sav'
 /RENAME (w1id w2id = d0 d1)
 /DROP= d0 d1.
EXECUTE.

Reference Incident Data files

In addition to the two "EVERLY" data files that are distributed for this study, there are eight additional data files that each focus on a single type of victimization incident called a reference incident. For example one of the data files includes information about sexual victimization incidents. Another file includes information about non-family victimization incidents. The variables in these additional data files are all derived from the original 'EVERLY' data files. The reference incident data files, and the SPSS programs used to create them, are available from NDACAN by special request. A brief description of each of the reference incident files is provided below. For more information on the variables included in the incident files, see Appendix I.

W1SEXINC

This wave 1 data file contains 2000 observations and 855 variables. The file includes information about a reference sexual abuse incident for each child.

W1RECINC

This wave 1 data file contains 2000 observations and 853 variables. The file includes information about each child's most recent abuse incident.

W1SRECINC

This wave 1 data file contains 2000 observations and 854 variables. The file includes information about each child's most recent sexual abuse incident.

W1NFAINC

This wave 1 data file contains 2000 observations and 848 variables. The file includes information about non-family assaults.

W1FAINC

This wave 1 data file contains 2000 observations and 854 variables. The file includes information about assaults committed by family members.

W2SEXINC

This wave 2 data file contains 1457 observations and 1052 variables. The file includes information about a reference sexual abuse incident for each child.

W2RECINC

This wave 2 data file contains 1457 observations and 1059 variables. The file includes information about each child's most recent abuse incident.

W2NFAINC

This wave 2 data file contains 1457 observations and 1046 variables. The file includes information about non-family assaults.

Notes Regarding the Data Files

W1EVERLY
DESCRIPTION: "Everly" means "ever and last year" because this data file contains variables representing estimates of victimizations occurring "ever" (designated by the ending "_E") and those occurring "in the last year" (designated by the ending "_LY").

NAMING CONVENTION: In most cases, the original variables in the wave 1 data file are named with numbers corresponding to interview questions. However, there are some exceptions to this rule. The codebook (Appendix C) provides accurate variable names and labels. (Do not use the questionnaire for this purpose; confusion may result!)

Most variables are based on questions asked of child respondents and begin with the letter "K". Variables based on questions asked of parents begin with the letter "P". Constructed variables are named as descriptively as possible (e.g., INCTYPE for type of incident, VICTYPE for type of victimization, CGRADE for current grade in school, etc.)

The constructed variables are named with initials based on the victimizations described, followed by a 0 (zero) or 1, an underscore "_" and the letters, "E" or "LY". For example, FA0_E, FA1_E, FA0_LY, FA1_LY, where "FA" means "family assault", "0" means attempted and completed victimizations, "1" designates completed only victimizations, "_E" means "ever", "_LY" means "last year". The Codebook Information (Appendix C) gives a complete description of these variables.

NOTES ON USAGE: This file contains the weight variable FINALWT which must be applied when incidence estimates are calculated. See Appendix C: Codebook Information for a list of variables.

W2EVERLY
DESCRIPTION: In wave 1, this was known as the "ever and last year" data file because it contained variables representing estimates of victimizations occurring "ever" (variables designated by the ending "_E") and those occurring "in the last year" (designated by the ending "_LY"). In wave 2, the estimates now reflect victimizations occurring "since the last interview" (designated by the ending "_I" for "interim") and "in the last year" (again ending in "_LY").

NAMING CONVENTION: SRBI (the firm which did the telephone interviews and initial data processing) used the convention of beginning all wave 2 variable names with the letter "N", and kept variable names consistent from wave 1 to wave 2 (where applicable). This practice has been implemented for all constructed variables as well. Constructed variables used in wave 1 which are also used in wave 2 begin with the letter "N", and names are identical, or nearly identical to the names used in wave 1. However, the 8-character name limit makes this difficult in some cases.   The following examples will clarify these naming conventions:

wave 1 name	wave 2 name
INCTYPE1	NINCTYP1
INCTYPE2	NINCTYP2
PERPLEV1	NPERPLV1
PERPLEV2	NPERPLV2

The only additional naming convention unique to this data file is the _I and _LY convention described above.

NOTES ON USAGE: This file contains three weight variables: FINALWT, MONTHWT and UNDERWT. See Section 1*: Statistical Weighting Variables and Guidelines,* for instructions on their use. See Appendix F: Codebook Information for a list of variables.

Please contact the Archive directly if you have questions or encounter problems in using this dataset. Do not contact the principal investigator. The Archive has made an agreement with the investigator to field all questions related to the study.

Hello, I'm _____ from SRBI, the national research organization in New York City. We are conducting a study about children's safety for the Boy Scouts of America. We are speaking to the parents and guardians of children aged 10 through 16 about crime and violence at school and elsewhere.

A1. Are there any children, aged 10 through 16, who are currently living in this household at least part of the year?

     Yes......1
     No.........2 SKIP TO B1

  A2. How many children, aged 10 through 16, are living in this household (even if they are not home now)?

    _____ NUMBER CURRENTLY LIVING

B1. Are there any (other) children, aged 10 through 16, who are not currently living in this household, but who did live here for at least four months last year?

     Yes......1
     No.........2 SKIP TO INSTRUCTION BEFORE C

  B2. How many other children, aged 10 through 16, were living here last year, but are not now?

G. We'd like to ask you a few questions about your (AGE)'s experiences over the past twelve months.

As I mentioned earlier, this study is being conducted for the Boy Scouts of America to better understand the problems facing children today, so that they can be better prepared. Your (AGE) is part of a national sample of 1,000 boys and girls selected completely at random, so that their experiences should be representative of the entire population.

Your interview will take about ten minutes. It is completely voluntary, and if there are any questions that you prefer not to answer, that is OK. However, your help will greatly assist the Boy Scouts in planning for the needs of adolescents in the future. If you have any questions about the authenticity of the study, I can give you our toll-free number to confirm it. Could we begin?

In planning programs for adolescents, the Boy Scouts would like to get the input of both adolescents and their parents. It is particularly important for us to find out what kinds of situations adolescents consider dangerous, whether they have ever encountered these situations, what they know about how to avoid or handle these situations, and what kinds of prevention information they may have received at school or elsewhere.

We would like to interview your (AGE) about his/her knowledge, opinions and experiences as part of this study. The interview would take less than half an hour, and can be scheduled at his/her convenience. All of his/her answers would be confidential and he/she doesn't have to answer any questions that he/she doesn't want to.

Once again, you can call our toll free number to confirm the authenticity of the study. We would also be happy to send you a letter before the interview, if you would like that.

To thank your son/daughter for her assistance in this project, we will send him/her a certificate of participation in the National Youth Safety Survey for the Boy Scouts, along with a check for five dollars.

Thanks. Could I speak to your (mother/father) again. I need to confirm whom I am supposed to interview in this household.

INTRODUCTION TO ELIGIBLE ADOLESCENT INTERVIEW

I am going to ask you some questions -- about things that happen in your school, in your neighborhood, in your family, and also your opinions -- things you like and don't like. This is part of a national survey of more than 2,000 boys and girls aged 10 through 16. We are interested in your ideas and opinions, so that organizations like the Boy Scouts can help other young people protect themselves.

You were chosen completely at random to represent the opinions and experiences of thousands of young people. We do this by dialing random phone numbers until we find someone the right age. You don't have to participate in this interview if you don't want to, but your help will make a big difference.

The interview will take almost a half an hour. We will be asking you some questions about dangerous situations you may have faced and about some personal situations, where you might have been threatened. You can stop the interview at any time. If this is a bad time to talk, I could call back at a better time for you. To thank you for your help, we will be sending you a certificate of appreciation and a check for five dollars.

Everything you say will be completely confidential. We are not going to tell your parents, your school or anyone else anything you told us. We are going to be combining your answers with those from hundreds of other young people to present a picture of what young people think.

We would like you to try to answer every question that you can. However, if there is any question that you don't want to answer, that will be OK. Also, if there is any question that you don't understand, please say so. If there are too many people around for you to talk freely, just let me know and I can call back later.

KS6.. Can we begin now?

        Yes....................1   SKIP TO K1
        No, call back later......2 ARRANGE CALLBACK
        No, don't want to.....3

KS7. Can you tell me why you'd rather not do the interview. It's a big help if we know why people don't want to talk with us.

Well, that's about it. We'd like to thank you for helping us in this study. What you've told us is very important, and it will help us to help other kids. We'd also like to remind you that everything you told us is confidential -- no one else is going to know about it.

We talked a lot about dangerous and difficult situations in this interview. If you are in a situation that is difficult or dangerous, or if you have a friend who is, there is a place you can call to get advice and help. It is a place called Childhelp that helps a lot of kids. The number is toll-free and it won't show up on your phone bill. Would you like that number?

Yes...................1   That toll-free number is 1-800-422-4453.

[INTRODUCTION TO PARENT/GUARDIAN INTERVIEWED IN WAVE I]
Hello, I'm _____ from SRBI, the national research organization in New York City. Last year we interviewed you as part of a a national study on children's safety that we have been conducting for the Boy Scouts of America. We also interviewed (CHILD'S NAME), who was randomly selected as part of a national sample of 2,000 boys and girls. You may recall that we sent a letter of appreciation and a check for five dollars to (him/her).

We are now conducting a one year follow-up study to see how our national sample of parents and children are doing. Your interview will only take about ten minutes. Your answers will be completely confidential, but if there are any questions that you prefer not to answer, that's OK. The survey is completely voluntary, but your participation as part of a national sample of parents will greatly help in planning for the future needs of adolescents and their families.

In planning programs for adolescents, the Boy Scouts would like to get the input of both adolescents and their parents. It is particularly important for us to find out what kinds of situations adolescents consider dangerous, whether they have ever encountered these situations, what they know about how to avoid or handle these situations, and what kinds of prevention information they may have received at school or elsewhere.

We would like to interview (CHILD'S NAME) again about his/her knowledge, opinions and experiences as part of this study. The interview would take less than half an hour, and can be scheduled at his/her convenience. All of his/her answers would be confidential and he/she doesn't have to answer any questions that he/she doesn't want to.

Once again, you can call our toll free number to confirm the authenticity of the study.

To thank your son/daughter for his/her assistance in this project, we will Hello, I'm _____ from SRBI, the national research organization in New York City. We are conducting a national study of the opinions and experiences of young people and their parents for the Boy Scouts of America. You may remember that we talked with you last year. We would like to ask you some more questions as part of this national study.

I am going to ask you some questions -- about things that happen in your school, in your neighborhood, in your family, and also your opinions -- things you like and don't like. This is part of a national survey of more than 2,000 boys and girls aged 10 through 17. We are interested in your ideas and opinions, so that organizations like the Boy Scouts can help other young people protect themselves.

You don't have to participate in this interview if you don't want to, but your help will make a big difference. [You were originally chosen completely at random to represent the opinions and experiences of thousands of young people. We did this by dialing random phone numbers until we found someone the right age.]

The interview will take almost a half an hour. We will be asking you some questions about dangerous situations you may have faced and about some personal situations, where you might have been threatened. You can stop the interview at any time. If this is a bad time to talk, I could call back at a better time for you. To thank you for your help, we will be sending you a certificate of appreciation and a check for five dollars.

We are not going to tell your parents, your school or anyone else anything you told us.

We would like you to try to answer every question that you can. However, if there is any question that you don't want to answer, that will be OK. Also, if there is any question that you don't understand, please say so. If there are too many people around for you to talk freely, just let me know and I can call back later.

KS6. Can we begin now?

    YES....................1   SKIP TO K1
    NO, CALL BACK LATER......2 ARRANGE CALLBACK
    NO, DON'T WANT TO.....3

KS7. Can you tell me why you'd rather not do the interview.
It's a big help if we know why people don't want to talk with us.

DEBRIEFING

Well, that's about it. We'd like to thank you for helping us in this study. What you've told us is very important, and it will help us to help other kids. We'd also like to remind you that everything you told us is confidential -- no one else is going to know about it.

We talked a lot about dangerous and difficult situations in this interview. If you are in a situation that is difficult or dangerous, or if you have a friend who is, there is a place you can call to get advice and help. It is a place called Childhelp that helps a lot of kids. The number is toll-free and it won't show up on your phone bill. Would you like that number?

YES...................1    That toll-free number is 1-800-422-4453.

As we promised, we want to send you a check for $5.00 for taking the time to participate in our study. To send your check we do need your name and address. (GET FULL NAME, STREET ADDRESS, APT. NUMBER IF NECESSARY FROM CHILD). [ENTER DATA IN SEPARATE FIELDS]

W1EVERLY Codebook Information

W1EVERLY Codebook Introduction

The W1EVERLY dataset includes all of the information from the wave 1 Youth Victimization Prevention Screener and the wave 1 Youth Victimization Prevention Survey Adolescent Interview, as well as a group of derived variables and a group of constructed variables. Also included in the data file are case weights and case identification numbers.

The W1EVERLY Codebook contains a list of each of the variables in the W1EVERLY data file. It also includes the variable label, format and value labels for each variable. The following paragraphs describe the order of presentation of the variables in the W1EVERLY data file.

1. Listed first, are the variables which correspond to the wave 1 Youth Victimization Prevention Screener.
The variables which correspond to the first three pages of the screener begin with the letter "S". The remaining digits of their variable names correspond to their screener question numbers. The variables that correspond to pages 4-6 of the screener, correspond directly to the question numbers. The variables which correspond to pages 7-9 of the screener begin with the letter "P". The remaining digits of their variable names correspond to their screener question numbers.

2. Listed next are the variables which correspond to the beginning of the wave 1 Youth Victimization Prevention Survey Adolescent Interview.
The variable names correspond directly to the question numbers in the wave 1 Adolescent Interview.

2a. Listed next are the questions from the debriefing section of the wave 1 Adolescent Interview.
The variable names begin with the letter "F". The remaining digits of their variable names correspond to their question numbers.

2b. Listed next are the variables which correspond to the first Incident Form of the wave 1 Adolescent Interview.

2c. Listed next are the variables which correspond to the second Incident Form of the wave 1 Adolescent Interview.

The variable names begin with the litter "R". Their remaining digits correspond to the Incident Form question numbers.

3. Listed next are the wave 1 derived variables. These variables are described in Appendix D.

4. Listed next are the wave 1 constructed variables which may be used to obtain victimization estimates. These variables and their derivations are described fully in Appendix E.

5. Towards the end of the dataset are the weighting variables, SEXWT, RACEWT, HISPWT and FINALWT and the case identification numbers W1ID and W2ID. These identification numbers may be used to merge the two datasets.

Variable Information for w1everly

Please note that the information listed for each variable includes a Format statement. If the format begins with the letter "F" then the variable is numeric. If the format begins with the letter "A" then the variable is a string. The numbers in the format refer to the number of digits and decimal places allowed in the variable. For example, the variable "Quality" has a format of F8.2. This means that it is a numeric variable and that it allows for 8 characters and two decimal places.

MOSAGO1 MOSAGO2	masterpm.cmd	How Many Months Ago Did Incident 1 or 2 Occur? (These variables were created from questions A2A1/RA2A1. The month of the incident was recoded according to the month in which the child was interviewed, with the new values subtracted from 12 to produce the number of months ago the incident occurred. The maximum value of 12 months was assigned to cases where the victimization occurred within the year, but the child was not sure when.
PERP1 PERP2 1=Parent/Step 2=Family over 18 3=Family under 18 4=Friend over 18 5=Stranger over 18 6=Friend under 18 7=Stranger under 18	everly.cmd	Identity of Perpetrator of Incident 1 and 2 respectively. (Created on the basis of incident form variables A5/RA5, A6/RA6, A8AA/RA8AA, A8AB/RA8AB)
KNSCORE (Integer)	masterpm.cmd	Score on SA Knowledge Quiz (Sum of correct responses to K51A-K51M, excluding K51H as too ambiguous.)

Variable Name/ Value Labels	Program Created In	Description
FAMILYAB 1 'yes' 2 'no' children,	masterpm.cmd	Did parent tell you that a family member can abuse? First of a series of four variables (FAMILYAB, SCREAM, TELL, NOFAULT) for child's report of the content of parent's information about sexual abuse. These four variables, constructed from K54B, K54C ,K54D and K54E, reflect responses as a percentage of all not just those whose parents talked to them about sexual abuse.
SCREAM 1 'yes' 2 'no'	masterpm.cmd	Did parent tell you to scream and yell?
TELL 1 'yes' 2 'no'	masterpm.cmd	Did parent tell you to tell an adult?
NOFAULT 1 'yes' 1 'no'	masterpm.cmd	Did parent tell you that sexual abuse is not the child's fault?
COMPLETE 1 'complete' 0 'other'	masterpm.cmd	Completeness of SA info from parents (info about SA is considered "complete" if it includes at least 3 out of 4 of the components parents were asked about in K54B, K54C, K54D, K54E.)
LASTPROG 1 'last week' 2 'last month' 3 'last year' 4 'year+'	masterpm.cmd	Restores missing values for K56B1, last time had school program.

W2EVERLY Codebook Information

W2EVERLY Codebook Introduction

The W2EVERLY data file includes all of the information from the wave 2
Youth Victimization Prevention Adult Screener and the wave 2 Youth Victimization Prevention Survey Adolescent Interview, as well as a group of derived variables and a group of constructed variables. Also included in the data file are case weights and case identification numbers.

The W2EVERLY Codebook contains a list of each of the variables in the W2EVERLY data file. It also includes the variable label, format and value labels for each variable. The following paragraphs describe the order of the variables in the W2EVERLY data file.

1. Listed first, are the case identification numbers W1ID and W2ID.

2. Listed next are some of the derived variables. For a full list and description of the derived variables, refer to Appendix X.

3. Listed next are the variables which correspond to the wave 2 Youth Victimization Prevention Survey Adolescent Interview.
    The variables which correspond to the interview begin with the letter
    "N". The remaining digits of their variable names correspond to their interview question numbers.

4. Listed next are the variables which correspond to the wave 2 Youth Victimization Prevention Adult Screener.
    The variables which correspond to the screener begin with the letter
    "N". The remaining digits of their variable names correspond to their screener question numbers.

5. Listed next are the questions from the first Incident Form of the wave 2
Adolescent Interview.
    The variables which correspond to the incident form begin with the letter "N". The remaining digits of their variable names correspond to their incident form question numbers.

6. Listed next are the questions from the second Incident Form of the wave 2
Adolescent Interview.
    The variables which correspond to the incident form begin with the letters "NR". The remaining digits of their variable names correspond to their incident form question numbers.

7. Listed next are the case weighting variables, SEXWT, RACEWT, HISPWT and FINALWT.

8. Listed next are the wave 2 estimate weighting variables, MONTHWT and UNDERWT.

9. Listed next are the wave 2 derived variables. These variables are described in Appendix X.

10. Listed next are the wave 2 Constructed variables which may be used to obtain victimization estimates. These variables and their derivations are described fully in Appendix X.

Variable Information for w2everly

Please note that the information listed for each variable includes a Format statement. If the format begins with the letter "F" then the variable is numeric. If the format begins with the letter "A" then the variable is a string. The numbers in the format refer to the number of digits and decimal places allowed in the variable. For example, the variable "W2ID" has a format of F5. This means that it is a numeric variable and that it allows for 5 characters.

W2EVERLY Constructed Variable Information

Constructed Variables Used to Obtain Victimization Estimates

This section represents an edited version of the output produced by running the SPSS program which creates the constructed variables in W2EVERLY. It explains the creation of the variables used to measure victimizations reported by NYVPS participants.

APPENDIX I

Notes Regarding the Reference Incident Data Files

Notes Regarding the Reference Incident Data Files

W1SEXINC
DESCRIPTION: All data files having a name of the type "...INCS.SYS" contain a single reference incident for each child. In the case of this dataset, the reference incident involves sexual abuse. The "reference incident," which includes all of the variables associated with the long form, is selected as follows: If one of a child's two possible long-form incidents is a sexual abuse incident, that becomes the reference incident. If both of a child's long-form incidents are sexual abuse incidents, an algorithm chooses one of the two as the reference incident. If a child has no sexual abuse incidents, all of the reference incident variables are set to system-missing.

HOW TO CREATE: This data file can be created with the program p1sexinc, which uses variables from w1everly. In addition to the reference incident variables, w1sexinc contains all of the variables from w1everly, including the original two long-form incidents.

NAMING CONVENTION: All of the variables associated with the reference incident begin with the letters "SX". This includes all of the incident form variables A1-E9 and all of the constructed variables associated with that incident (e.g. its inctype, perpetrator, level of severity, etc.). Some examples:

Standard name	Reference incident name
A1 or RA1	SXA1
INCTYPE1 or INCTYPE2	SXINCTYP
PERP1 or PERP2	SXPERP

SPECIAL CODES/FLAGS/COUNTERS: There are several special variables to be aware of in the "w1sexinc" dataset. These are as follows:

1. LEVEL1 and LEVEL2: These represent the level of severity of sexual abuse incidents one and two. If an incident does not involve sexual abuse, the corresponding LEVEL variable is set to system-missing. The reference incident variable for level of sex abuse incident is called "SXLEVEL". The level of severity is based on the child's response to the sexual abuse dynamics questions B20-B23/RB20-RB23 (see also MOREDT1 & 2, below).

2. MOREDT1 and MOREDT2: These are summary variables for B24A-C and RB24A-C, respectively. MOREDT1 & 2 each represent the most severe type of sexual abuse reported in the three corresponding verbatims. So for example, if the child reported sexual comments in B24A and unwanted sexual touch in B24B, then MOREDT1 would be coded as sexual touch because it is more serious. MOREDT1 & 2 are then used to assign an SXLEVEL (see above) to the sexual incident.

3. SCHOSEN: In cases where there are two long-form sexual incidents, SCHOSEN reflects the incident number (1 or 2) of the incident chosen as the reference sexual incident. The algorithm which selects the reference incident compares the two incidents on such factors as severity of abuse, age of perpetrator, and so on. A value of 3 for SCHOSEN is assigned each time a comparison is made and the incidents still appear identical. So, for example, if there are two sexual incidents, LEVEL1=8 and LEVEL2=8, SCHOSEN would get a value of 3 and so the next comparison would be made. Once SCHOSEN has a value of either 1 or 2, comparisons cease to made for that case and the value of SCHOSEN now reflects the incident selected as the reference incident.

4. SCHFLAG: This is a dummy flag (possible values 0,1) which reflects whether a case was left, at the end of the comparison process, with two identical sexual abuse incidents. When this happened, the algorithm was designed to just select the first incident as the reference incident. SCHFLAG is simply used to double-check that the number remaining is not indicative of a problem with the sex abuse data.

W1RECINC
DESCRIPTION: All data files having a name of the type "...INCS.SYS" contain a single reference incident for each child. In the case of this data file the reference incident is the most recent one. The "reference incident," which includes all of the variables associated with the long form, is selected as follows: If a child has only one long-form incident, that becomes the reference incident. If a child has 2 long-form incidents, the more recent of the two becomes the reference incident. If a child has 2 long-form incidents which occurred at the same time, or if dates of occurrence are missing for both incidents, an algorithm chooses one of the two as the reference incident. If a child has no long-form incident, all of the reference incident variables are set to system-missing.

HOW TO CREATE: This data file can be created by running the program p1recinc which uses variables from w1everly. In addition to the reference incident variables, w1recinc contains all of the variables from "EVERLY", including the original two long-form incidents and the _E and _LY variables.

NAMING CONVENTION: All of the variables associated with the reference incident begin with the letters "REC" or "RE" (where "REC" would make the variable name too long). This includes all of the incident form variables A1-E9 and all of the constructed variables associated with that incident (e.g. its inctype, perpetrator, level of severity, etc.). Some examples:

Standard name	Reference incident name
A1 or RA1	RECA1
INCTYP1 or INCTYP2	REINCTYP
PERP1 or PERP2	RECPERP

1. CHOSEN: In cases where there are two long-form incidents, CHOSEN reflects the incident number (1 or 2) of the incident chosen as the reference incident. In this case the reference incident should be the more recent one (if there are two long-form incidents). The algorithm which selects the reference incident compares the two incidents first on the MOSAGO variables (i.e. relative recency). If both incidents are equally recent, or both have missing date of occurrence information, the algorithm then compares the incidents on such factors as severity of abuse, age of perpetrator, and so on. A value of 3 for CHOSEN is assigned each time a comparison is made and the incidents still appear identical. Once a comparison results in CHOSEN having a value of either 1 or 2 (i.e. results in some basis for choosing between the two incidents), comparisons cease to made for that case and the value of CHOSEN now reflects the incident selected as the reference incident.

2. CHFLAG: This is a dummy flag (possible values 0,1) which reflects whether a case was left, at the end of the comparison process, with two long-form incidents which appear identical on all of the selection criteria. When this happened, the algorithm was designed to just select the first incident as the reference incident. CHFLAG is simply used to double-check that the number remaining identical is not indicative of a problem with the victimization data.

W1SRECINC
DESCRIPTION: All data files having a name of the type "...INCS.SYS" contain a single reference incident for each child. In this dataset, the reference incident is either one of sexual abuse or, if no sexual incident exists, the reference incident is the most recent one. The "reference incident," which includes all of the variables associated with the long form, is selected as follows: If a child has only one long-form incident, that becomes the reference incident. If a child has 2 long-form incidents and one involves sexual abuse, the sexual incident is chosen. If a child has two sexual abuse incidents, the more recent of the two becomes the reference incident. If a child has two non-sexual long-form incidents, the most recent is chosen. If a child has 2 long-form incidents which occurred at the same time, or if dates of occurrence are missing for both incidents, an algorithm chooses one of the two as the reference incident. If a child has no long-form incident, all of the reference incident variables are set to system-missing.

HOW TO CREATE: This data file can be created by running the program p1sreinc, which uses variables from w1everly. In addition to the reference incident variables, w1sreinc contains all of the variables from "EVERLY", including the original two long-form incidents and the _E and _LY variables.

NAMING CONVENTION: All of the variables associated with the reference incident begin with the letters "REC" or "RE" (where "REC" would make the variable name too long). This includes all of the incident form variables A1-E9 and all of the constructed variables associated with that incident (e.g. its inctype, perpetrator, level of severity, etc.). Some examples:

Standard name	Reference incident name
A1 or RA1	RECA1
INCTYP1 or INCTYP2	REINCTYP
PERP1 or PERP2	RECPERP

SPECIAL CODES/FLAGS/COUNTERS:

1. CHOSEN: In cases where there are two long-form incidents, CHOSEN reflects the incident number (1 or 2) of the incident chosen as the reference incident. In this case the reference incident should be the more recent one (if there are two long-form incidents). A value of 3 for CHOSEN is assigned each time a comparison is made and the incidents still appear identical. Once a comparison results in CHOSEN having a value of either 1 or 2 (i.e. results in some basis for choosing between the two incidents), comparisons cease to made for that case and the value of CHOSEN now reflects the incident selected as the reference incident.

2. CHFLAG: This is a dummy flag (possible values 0,1) which reflects whether a case was left, at the end of the comparison process, with two long-form incidents which appear identical on all of the selection criteria. When this happened, the algorithm was designed to just select the first incident as the reference incident. CHFLAG is simply used to double-check that the number remaining identical is not indicative of a problem with the victimization data.

W1NFAINC
DESCRIPTION: All data files having a name of the type "...INCS.SYS" contain a single reference incident for each child. In the case of this data file the reference incident is an incident of nonfamily assault--attempted, completed or aggravated assault, but excluding instances of genital assault, where the perpetrator was not a member of the respondent's family. The "reference incident," which includes all of the variables associated with the long form, is selected as follows: If a child has only one long-form incident of nonfamily assault, that becomes the reference incident. If a child has 2 long-form incidents of nonfamily assault, an algorithm chooses one of the two as the reference incident. If a child has no long-form incident, all of the reference incident variables are set to system-missing.

HOW TO CREATE: This data file can be created by running p1nfainc which uses variables from w1everly. In addition to the reference incident variables, w1nfainc contains all of the variables from "EVERLY", including the original two long-form incidents and the _E and _LY variables.

NAMING CONVENTION: All of the variables associated with the reference incident begin with the letters "NF". This includes all of the incident form variables A1-E9 and all of the constructed variables associated with that incident (e.g. its inctype, perpetrator, level of severity, etc.). Some examples:

Standard name	Reference incident name
A1 or RA1	NFA1
C2 or RC2	NFC2
INCTYP1 or INCTYP2	NFINCTY
PERP1 or PERP2	NFPERP

SPECIAL CODES/FLAGS/COUNTERS:

1. LEVEL1 and LEVEL2: These represent the level of severity of nonfamily incidents 1 and 2, respectively. If an incident is not nonfamily assault, the corresponding LEVEL variable is set to system-missing. The reference incident variable for level of nonfamily incident is called "NFLEVEL". The level of severity is based on the child's response to the dynamics questions for incidents of nonfamily assault, B1-B5 and RB1-RB5.

2. CHOSEN: In cases where there are two long-form incidents, CHOSEN reflects the incident number (1 or 2) of the incident chosen as the reference incident. In this case the reference incident should be the more serious one (if there are two long-form incidents). The algorithm which selects the reference incident compares the two incidents first based on level of severity. If both incidents are equally severe, the algorithm then compares the incidents on such factors as age of perpetrator, whether injury occurred, whether the incident was part of a series, etc. A value of 3 for CHOSEN is assigned each time a comparison is made and the incidents still appear identical. Once a comparison results in CHOSEN having a value of either 1 or 2 (i.e. results in some basis for choosing between the two incidents), comparisons cease to made for that case and the value of CHOSEN now reflects the incident selected as the reference incident.

3. CHFLAG: This is a dummy flag (possible values 0,1) which reflects whether a case was left, at the end of the comparison process, with two long-form incidents which appear identical on all of the selection criteria. When this happened, the algorithm was designed to just select the first incident as the reference incident. CHFLAG is simply used to double-check that the number remaining identical is not indicative of a problem with the victimization data.

W1FAINC

DESCRIPTION: All data files having a name of the type "...INCS.SYS" contain a single reference incident for each child. In the case of this data file the reference incident is a family incident, where the perpetrator was a member of the respondent's family. The "reference incident," which includes all of the variables associated with the long form, is selected as follows. If a child has 2 long-form incidents of family assault, an algorithm chooses one of the two as the reference incident. If a child has no long-form incident, all of the reference incident variables are set to system-missing.

HOW TO CREATE: This data file can be created by running p1fainc, which uses variables from w1everly. In addition to the reference incident variables, w1fainc contains all of the variables from "EVERLY", including the original two long-form incidents and the _E and _LY variables.

NAMING CONVENTION: All of the variables associated with the reference incident begin with the letters "F". This includes all of the incident form variables A1-E9 and all of the constructed variables associated with that incident (e.g. its inctype, perpetrator, level of severity, etc.). Some examples:

Standard name	Reference incident name
A1 or RA1	FA1
C2 or RC2	FC2
INCTYP1 or INCTYP2	FINCTY
PERP1 or PERP2	FPERP

SPECIAL CODES/FLAGS/COUNTERS:

1. LEVEL1 and LEVEL2: These represent the level of severity of family incidents 1 and 2, respectively. If an incident is not family assault, the corresponding LEVEL variable is set to system-missing. The reference incident variable for level of family incident is called "FLEVEL". The level of severity is based on the child's response to the dynamics questions for incidents of family assault, B1-B5 and RB1-RB5.

2. CHOSEN: In cases where there are two long-form incidents, CHOSEN reflects the incident number (1 or 2) of the incident chosen as the reference incident. In this case the reference incident should be the more serious one (if there are two long-form incidents). When this happened, the algorithm was designed to just select the first incident as the reference incident. CHFLAG is simply used to double-check that the number remaining identical is not indicative of a problem with the victimization data.

W2SEXINC
DESCRIPTION: All data files having a name of the type "...INCS.SYS" contain a single reference incident for each child. In the case of this data file the reference incident involves sexual abuse. The "reference incident," which includes all of the variables associated with the long form, is selected as follows: If one of a child's two possible long-form incidents is a sexual abuse incident, that becomes the reference incident. If both of a child's long-form incidents are sexual abuse incidents, an algorithm chooses one of the two as the reference incident. If a child has no sexual abuse incidents, all of the reference incident variables are set to system-missing.

HOW TO CREATE: This data file can be created by running p2sexinc, which uses variables from w2everly. In addition to the reference incident variables, w2sexinc contains all of the variables from "w2everly", including the original two long-form incidents.

NAMING CONVENTION: In addition to the convention of beginning all wave 2 variables with the letter "N", and keeping wave 2 variable names as similar as possible to the wave 1 names (where applicable), there is an additional naming convention to be aware of. That is, all of the variables associated with the reference incident begin either with the letters "NS" or "NSX". Specifically, all of the incident form variables A1-E9 begin with "NSX", and all of the constructed variables associated with that incident (e.g. its inctype, perpetrator, level of severity, etc.) begin with "NS". Some examples:

Standard name	Reference incident name
--------------	-----------------------
NA1 or NRA1	NSXA1
NINCTYP1 or NINCTYP2	NSINCTYP
NPERP1 or NPERP2	NSPERP

PROBLEMS OR ADJUSTMENTS: A verbatim question (NB24A/NRB24A) was provided for use in cases where children did not provide a "yes" response to any of the questions in the sex abuse dynamics section AND indicated a willingness to talk about the incident. This would mean a yes response to NB21E/NRB21E ("Did something else not involving touch?) or a "will talk" response to NB21G/NRB21G ("Earlier you said ... happened. Did I get that wrong or do you not want to talk about it?"). Unfortunately, the verbatim questions were inadvertently misapplied in wave 2, so that they were only asked of children who screened into the long-form on the basis of question NK47A. Thus there are two sets of problems: (1) children not asked the verbatim when they needed to be - we have no dynamics details for this group; (2) children asked the verbatim when they didn't need to be - we have extraneous dynamics details for this group. In cases where the child gave responses to both a dynamics question and the verbatim, the more serious of the two responses is used to describe the incident.

SPECIAL CODES/FLAGS/COUNTERS: There are several special variables to be aware of in the w1sexinc dataset. These are as follows:

1. NLEVEL1 and NLEVEL2: These represent the level of severity of sexual abuse incidents 1 and 2, respectively. If an incident is not a sexual one, the corresponding NLEVEL variable is set to system-missing. The reference incident variable for level of sex abuse incident is called "NSLEVEL". The level of severity is based on the child's response to the sexual abuse dynamics questions NB20-NB22F/NRB20-NRB22F (see also NMOREDT1 & 2, below).

2. NMOREDT1 and NMOREDT2: These are summary variables for NB24A-C and NRB24A-C, respectively. NMOREDT1 & 2 each represent the most severe type of sexual abuse reported in the three corresponding verbatims. So for example, if the child reported sexual comments in NB24A and unwanted sexual touch in NB24B, then NMOREDT1 would be coded as sexual touch because it is more serious. NMOREDT1 & 2 are then used to assign an NLEVEL (see above) to the sexual incident.

3. NSCHOSEN: In cases where there are two long-form sexual incidents, NSCHOSEN reflects the incident number (1 or 2) of the incident chosen as the reference sexual incident. The algorithm which selects the reference incident compares the two incidents on such factors as severity of abuse, age of perpetrator, and so on. A value of 3 for NSCHOSEN is assigned each time a comparison is made and the incidents still appear identical. So, for example, if there are two sexual incidents, NLEVEL1=8 and NLEVEL2=8, NSCHOSEN would get a value of 3 and so the next comparison would be made. Once NSCHOSEN has a value of either 1 or 2, comparisons cease to made for that case and the value of NSCHOSEN now reflects the incident selected as the reference incident.

4. NSCHFLAG: This is a dummy flag (possible values 0,1) which reflects whether a case was left, at the end of the comparison process, with two identical sexual abuse incidents. When this happened, the algorithm was designed to just select the first incident as the reference incident. NSCHFLAG is simply used to double-check that the number remaining is not indicative of a problem with the sex abuse data.

W2RECINC
DESCRIPTION: All data files having a name of the type "...INCS.SYS" contain a single reference incident for each child. In the case of this data file the reference incident is the most recent one. The "reference incident," which includes all of the variables associated with the long form, is selected as follows: If a child has only one long-form incident, that becomes the reference incident. If a child has 2 long-form incidents, the more recent of the two becomes the reference incident. If a child has 2 long-form incidents which occurred at the same time, or if dates of occurrence are missing for both incidents, an algorithm chooses one of the two as the reference incident. If a child has no long-form incident, all of the reference incident variables are set to system-missing.

HOW TO CREATE: This data file can be created by p2recinc, which uses variables from w2everly. In addition to the reference incident variables, w2recinc contains all of the variables from "w2everly", including the original two long-form incidents and the _I and _LY variables.

NAMING CONVENTION: In addition to the convention of beginning all wave 2 variables with the letter "N", and keeping wave 2 variable names as similar as possible to the wave 1 names (where applicable), there is an additional naming convention to be aware of. That is, all of the variables associated with the reference incident begin either with the letters "NR" or "NRC". Specifically, all of the incident form variables A1-E9 begin with "NRC", and all of the constructed variables associated with that incident (e.g. its inctype, perpetrator, level of severity, etc.) begin with "NR". Some examples:

Standard name	Reference incident name
NA1 or NRA1	NRCA1
NC2 or NRC2	NRCC2
NINCTYP1 or NINCTYP2	NRINCTYP
NPERP1 or NPERP2	NRPERP

SPECIAL CODES/FLAGS/COUNTERS:

1. NRCHOSEN: In cases where there are two long-form incidents, NRCHOSEN reflects the incident number (1 or 2) of the incident chosen as the reference incident. In this case the reference incident should be the more recent one (if there are two long-form incidents). The algorithm which selects the reference incident compares the two incidents first on the NMOSAGO variables (i.e. relative recency). If both incidents are equally recent, or both have missing date of occurrence information, the algorithm then compares the incidents on such factors as severity of abuse, age of perpetrator, and so on. A value of 3 for NRCHOSEN is assigned each time a comparison is made and the incidents still appear identical. Once a comparison results in NRCHOSEN having a value of either 1 or 2 (i.e. results in some basis for choosing between the two incidents), comparisons cease to made for that case and the value of NRCHOSEN now reflects the incident selected as the reference incident.

2. NRCHFLAG: This is a dummy flag (possible values 0,1) which reflects whether a case was left, at the end of the comparison process, with two long-form incidents which appear identical on all of the selection criteria. When this happened, the algorithm was designed to just select the first incident as the reference incident. NSCHFLAG is simply used to double-check that the number remaining identical is not indicative of a problem with the victimization data.

W2NFAINC
DESCRIPTION: All data files having a name of the type "...INCS.SYS" contain a single reference incident for each child. In the case of this data file the reference incident is an incident of nonfamily assault--attempted, completed or aggravated assault, but excluding instances of genital assault, where the perpetrator was not a member of the respondent's family. The "reference incident," which includes all of the variables associated with the long form, is selected as follows: If a child has only one long-form incident of nonfamily assault, that becomes the reference incident. If a child has 2 long-form incidents of nonfamily assault, an algorithm chooses one of the two as the reference incident. If a child has no long-form incident, all of the reference incident variables are set to system-missing.

HOW TO CREATE: This data file can be created by p2nfainc, which uses variables from w2everly. In addition to the reference incident variables, w2nfainc contains all of the variables from "w2everly", including the original two long-form incidents and the _I and _LY variables.

NAMING CONVENTION: In addition to the convention of beginning all wave 2 variables with the letter "N", and keeping wave 2 variable names as similar as possible to the wave 1 names (where applicable), there is an additional naming convention to be aware of. That is, all of the variables associated with the reference incident begin with the letters "NNF", indicating wave2 nonfamily incidents. Some examples:

      Standard name   Reference incident name
      --------------   ----------------------

NA1 or NRA1	NNFA1
NC2 or NRC2	NNFC2
NINCTYP1 or NINCTYP2	NNFINCTY
NPERP1 or NPERP2	NNFPERP

SPECIAL CODES/FLAGS/COUNTERS:

1. NNFLEVL1 and NNFLEVL2: These represent the level of severity of nonfamily incidents 1 and 2, respectively. If an incident is not nonfamily assault, the corresponding NNFLEVL variable is set to system-missing. The reference incident variable for level of nonfamily incident is called "NNFLEVL". The level of severity is based on the child's response to the dynamics questions for incidents of nonfamily assault, NB1-NB5 and NRB1-NRB5.

2. NNFCHOSN: In cases where there are two long-form incidents, NNFCHOSN reflects the incident number (1 or 2) of the incident chosen as the reference incident. In this case the reference incident should be the more serious one (if there are two long-form incidents). The algorithm which selects the reference incident compares the two incidents first based on level of severity. If both incidents are equally severe, the algorithm then compares the incidents on such factors as age of perpetrator, whether injury occurred, whether the incident was part of a series, etc.   A value of 3 for NRCHOSEN is assigned each time a comparison is made and the incidents still appear identical. Once a comparison results in NRCHOSEN having a value of either 1 or 2 (i.e. results in some basis for choosing between the two incidents), comparisons cease to made for that case and the value of NRCHOSEN now reflects the incident selected as the reference incident.

3. NNFCHFLG: This is a dummy flag (possible values 0,1) which reflects whether a case was left, at the end of the comparison process, with two long-form incidents which appear identical on all of the selection criteria. When this happened, the algorithm was designed to just select the first incident as the reference incident. NNFCHFLG is simply used to double-check that the number remaining identical is not indicative of a problem with the victimization data.
